

YOU ARE BEAUTIFUL IN GOD'S EYE'S HAIR CARE

October 2022 Newsletter

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness month. While this is an ongoing disease with no cure we would like to take a moment to recognize the people it has affected directly or by proxy. When a disease is present in a family member, it is present in the entire family. The efforts, the agony, the journey, the fight is daily and relentless. However, there is something that we hardly discuss when it comes to Breast Cancer, and that is the journey of the entire family.

The person fighting the disease needs to know they are not a burden, that they are loved, and that it's okay that everyday brings a new normal for everyone. The family has to understand that none of this is to be taken personally. In the middle of fighting cancer, you're in the middle of war, so hurt feelings may be a part of that atmosphere. It is not intentional.

Likewise, if children are involved, it's hard for them to see the effect of the treatment, because they may not understand why you're feeling weak, tired, nauseous, irritated, in pain, less hair or no hair, it's difficult. So children can begin to act out and feel very alone. They may feel that the overall struggle is too great, and their world of struggle couldn't possibly be important. We have to reassure them that ALL issues are important cancer related or not. We have to keep communication open, so sometimes that means allowing them to talk to you while you fall asleep. Everything is important. Everything has to be because you don't want to have any regrets. So, as a family, talk about the tough things, ask the hard questions, laugh over nothing, but remember each of you matters. As a result, when we have knowledge of someone going through the fight of cancer, let's support the entire family unit mentally, emotionally, physically, financially, spiritually, and consistently!
